NOAH'S EVENT CENTER

About SLC DevOps Days

Salt Lake DevOps Days has become a the place for DevOps practitioners and Leaders alike to come to learn and network with others and vendors in the Salt Lake City Area.. This year we will sell out of tickets at 450 attendees (Developers, SRE's, CTO's, VP of Engineering, Managers, PMO's and more) for the fourth year in a row.

Salt Lake City is also known as the Silicon Slopes, as we have more than 200 High Tech companies in the region. With several Fortune 500 companies, numerous start-ups, and everything in between, we offer you the opportunity to build relationships with current and future customers, and our growing technical workforce. Many of our sponsors from the previous years were impressed with the knowledge and the conversations that they were having with our attendees. One quote from a previous sponsor: "With most of the attendees I was able to have engaging conversations with, they were open and interested in how my product could benefit them.

As organizers we have focused on getting managers and decision makers to our conference and getting their buy-in to get their teams to come. This year we are returning to South Jordan, located in the heart of the Salt Lake Valley. This puts us close to where a majority of the High-Tech companies are based.

Your sponsor tables will be in high traffic areas, increasing your opportunities for discussions and attracting attendees. Call for Speakers and registration is open. Please visit <http://www.slcddevopsdays.org> for more information. Also please email the organizers at organizers-salt-lake-city-2019@devopsdays.org with any questions you may have.
